Harper Tames Tigers in Close Game by 4 to 2

Three Runs in the Fourth Inning Settle Outcome; Young Cole Is Batted Out

By Charles A. Taylor By Charles A. Taylor
The Good Old Duke of York
He had ten thousand men;
He marched them up a hill
The he marched them down again.
And when they were UP
They were UP;
And when they were DOWN
They were DOWN;
And when they were only half way UP
They were neither UP nor DOWN!

The ancient refrain given above is then they return to their clubhouse when they return to their clubhouse after each day's "toil." Yesterday the stress was laid upon the UP lines; today it may be on the DOWNS.

All of which leads by devious ways to the fact that the Hugmen defeated the Tygers yesterday afternoon while the Red Sox were triumphing over the Tribe of Speaker, so the "Huggers" are once more hugging first place by a aqueaky margin of four points. The score at the Polo Grounds was 4 to 2, Hackensack Harry Harper being the pitcher who led the Yanks back again to the heights.

It can be truthfully said that Hackensack Harry had wonderful support, Captain Peckinpaugh, Aaron Ward and Elmer Miller starring in their defensively his sensational stop of Woodall's savage drive to center in the ninth. There was one on base at the time and nobody out, and the flying ball seemed destined to pass right by Elmer and go bounding on to the bleachers, but Miller succeeded in nabbing one of the bounds, thereby holding the smack to a single.

succeeded in nabbing one of the bounds, thereby holding the smack to a single.

Cole Batted From Box

Manager Tyrus Raymond Cobb sent Young King Cole to the box. This fellow Cole, it will be remembered, was the only Detroit pitcher to defeat the Yanks on the latter team's last Western jaunt. The Young King had one bad inning yesterday, in which the Huggers amassed three of their four runs, and he gave way to Holling in the seventh.

This fruitful inning for the Yanks was the fourth, which Miller opened with a single to center. Peckinpaugh walked and Babe Ruth hit a one-base liner to right, which filled the bags with no one out. Bob Meusel hit safely over second, scoring Miller and Peck. Wally Pip sacrificed, Jones to Blue, and Ward brought Ruth over with a long fly to Cobb.

The Yankees picked up their final tally in the sixth by means of a single to deep short from the bat of Meusel, an infield out and a double down the right field foul line by Ward.

The Tygers finally managed to break through on Harper in the seventh, although only one hit figured in the lone counter secured. Blue walked as a starter. Sargent fouled to Schang and Woodall singled to right, Blue stopping at second. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly by Manion, batting for Cole, scored Blue. Pep Young wafted to Ruth.

Rally in Ninth Throttled

In the ninth the 10,000 spectators became apprehensive.

In the ninth the 10,000 spectators became apprehensive. Harper failed to locate the plate for Sargent, who raced to third on Woodall's single to center. Holling's sacrifice fly to Miller tallied Sargent, but Young forced Barnes, running for Woodall, and Bobby Jones fouled to McNally for the

It was a creditable brace on the part of the Yanks, but with this band of ball tossers there is indeed no telling what a day may bring forth.

Babe Ruth is taking a holiday with his big bludgeon. His single in the fourth inning was his first safety in seven trips to the plate. Maybe he is saving his punch for the Indians, who arrive in town Friday.

Harper allowed only eight hits, and they were well scattered. In only one inning, the eighth, did two safeties come together. The sluggers, Cobb, Veech and Heilman, were restricted to one safe blow each.

Great Catch by Pipp

Ward and Pipp made a great play on Cole in the third. The Detroit pitcher sent a mean bounder to Aaron, who leaped in the air to make the stop and then was so hurried that he threw wildly to Pipp. The latter, however, caught the tess with his gloved hand for the out.

C. K. G. Billings, the multi-million-aire sportsman, has bought a box for the Mathewson testimonial game on September 30.

The Yanks and Tigers will meet for the last time this season at the Polo Grounds to-day. Rip Collins and Lengthy Ehmke will probably do the pitching.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.-The Giants' lead in the pennant race was cut to three games this afternoon when they were beaten by the Cubs in a teninning contest by a score of 7 to 5. The winning run was scored on an error by Frisch, a wild pitch and a single by O'Farrell. Poor base running deprived the New Yorkers of several chances to turn the tide in their favor. The game was a free hitting affair, and the piayers of both teams were badly handicapped by the soggy field.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, who started in the box for the Cubs, was chased to cover in the eighth inning, during which McGraw's players came from behind and tied the score. Virgil Cheeves held the New Yorkers in check for the remainder of the afternoon.

The Giants used four pitchers—Barnes, Shea, Sallee and Nehf in the order named. Barnes was chased from the mound in the fifth inning, when the home players assaulted him for six hits. Shea and Sallee were each taken out in fayor of a pinch hitter. Nehf pitched the last three innings and was going along at a great rate until the fatal tenth.

Covering the Case

Dear Sir: I have been so interested in your frequent remarks and observations on the subject of the "off-day" that I cannot resist this opportunity to address such an interested listener on a subject of which I have made a close, though amateur, study. NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Sept. 20.— Head Coach George Foster Sanford viewed the Rutgers squad to-day from a twenty-foot tower erected especially for him. The "crow's nest" has four large iron wheels and a shaft so that it can be pulled anywhere on the field. It enables the mentor to see his entire squad of fifty-odd players at the same time and so direct the assistant coaches. The day being ideal for football injected new spirit into the players and a brisk scrimmage was held, during which more than usual attention was paid to the development of the offense. Summerhill and Captain Duffy worked well in the backfield, while Eckhardt made some brilliant plays at end. The only way is to apply the above principles and exaggerate the method to secure quick response. Relax, slow down, cut off all effort for SPEED, BRILLIANCE, DISTANCE. first time I employed this method successfully was in the final round of a tennis tournament. Physically and nervously I was apparently at my best, but in the first game I discovered I had "lost touch." I tried harder, drove harder, put on more speed, and lost the first set 0-6. In the second set I took a deep breath, relaxed and forced myself to slow up. No matter what the temptation to kill the ball, I lobbed, cut and played cial absolutely safe, so far as returning the ball over the net and into the court was concerned. The advantage of such "soft shooting" to my opponent I took no regard of. I took my losses serenely and kept up the mental inhibition, but in spite of it my timing, placement, speed and service
